- Anti-Arrhythmic Drugs and ECG Integration
- Anticoagulation Strategies
- Future Trends in Electrophysiology (EP)
- Pacing and Guidelines

Learning Objectives

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Demonstrate proficiency in atrial fibrillation management, showcasing knowledge in preventive strategies, pharmaceutical interventions, device therapies, and application of the latest guidelines for optimal patient care.
- Assess proficiency in evaluating the impact of integrated technological advancements, including AI applications and telemetry monitoring, on the diagnosis, treatment, and long-term management of cardiac arrhythmias within the field of electrophysiology.
- Demonstrate mastery in applying current AHA/ACC and HRS guidelines in real-world clinical scenarios, prioritizing evidence-based decision-making, patient-centered care, and adaptability to emerging therapeutic strategies in atrial fibrillation management.
- Enhance skills in assessing and mitigating risks associated with cardiac conditions, including the identification of high-risk ECG markers, understanding inherited cardiac conditions, and incorporating preventive measures into clinical practice.
- Facilitate collaboration among preventive cardiologists, electrophysiologists, and healthcare professionals, implementing a team-based approach to improve outcomes in atrial fibrillation management

Intended Audience

This program is designed for a diverse healthcare audience, including cardiologists, electrophysiologists, primary care, emergency, family practice, heart failure specialists, internal and geriatric medicine physicians, fellows, residents, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, nurses, and EP Lab staff.

Accreditation Statement

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the Einstein Healthcare Network and The Cardiovascular Institute of Philadelphia (CVI). Einstein Healthcare Network is accredited by the Pennsylvania Medical Society to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation Statement

AMA: Einstein Healthcare Network designates this Live Event for a maximum of 7.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Attendees should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Please note: Physicians accrediting through AOA will receive an AMA certificate of attendance, which can be submitted to the AOA for a maximum of 7.5 credits in Category 2A. Advanced Practice Providers, Nurses, and other healthcare professionals will receive an AMA certificate of attendance for up to 7.5 credit hours, to be submitted to their respective accreditation bodies.

MOC Statement

MOC Statement MOC Medical Knowledge Credits/Points: Successful completion of this CME activity enables the participant to earn up to 7.25 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program.
